

Latinos Unidos por Autismo Monthly Support Group

Conducted in Spanish

Join Giselle and other caregivers who are experiencing the strengths and struggles of supporting someone with Autism, from children to adults. This group provides an opportunity for Latino families to network with others that speak their language and understand what caregivers are going through.

Her hope for this group is to provide a place to share personal feelings, strategies, and support to families to learn how to access available community resources that can help the family.

If you have questions, contact Giselle.

About the Facilitator

“Being a first-generation graduate has given me the motivation to commit to advocating for all people who are at risk for injustices in our communities. I come from a family who has many family members that have disabilities and/or mental health diagnoses. Because of this, I have devoted myself to serving this community.

The stigmas that surround our community affect families every day. Through my experience, I have learned that vulnerability is difficult for this population, and as a social worker, I dedicate my days gaining the trust of people who are living with, or supporting a person with a disability.”
